GIRL SCOUTS OF HAWAI'I APPOINTS LORI TERANISHI AS BOARD CHAIR

Nonprofit Announces New Board of Directors for 2019 - 2020

HONOLULU (DRAFT) – The Girl Scouts of Hawai'i recently appointed new members to its Board of Directors, with Lori Teranishi of iQ 360 serving as new Board Chair. The 22-member volunteer board is responsible for supporting the non-profit organization through community outreach and fundraising efforts while representing the principles and mission of scouting in Hawai'i.

“As an alumna of Girl Scouts and leading female professional, Lori Teranishi perfectly embodies our organization’s mission to nurture young ladies of courage, confidence and character, who make the world a better place,” said Shari Chang, CEO of Girl Scouts of Hawai'i. “We’re thrilled to see Lori assume the position of Board Chair, and look forward to the many incredible initiatives she will pursue during her time with Girl Scouts of Hawai'i,”

Teranishi is equipped with 20 years of experience specializing in crisis communications and issues management, Teranishi has a successful track record of protecting executive and brand reputations. She currently serves as principal of iQ 360, an integrated communications agency offering PR, marketing, content and creative services to a variety of clients.
